

Donor Forum involvement

- To participate in the Donor Forum you need to be an onCore UK donor.
- We send a quarterly newsletter, via email or post, starting from December 2007. This includes all our key news, updates on research, invitations to events, summaries of donor opinions and discussion points.
- We hope to hold our first Annual Meeting in June 2008 and, as membership grows, we aim to hold further meetings to discuss our progress directly with you.
- You can tell us your views through questionnaires, polls, articles, letters or face to face – whichever suits you best.

How to join

- If you would like to join the Donor Forum please complete and detach the reply card below. You may either send this to us as a postcard, or in an envelope to the same address.
- We will only use your details for the Donor Forum and will not give them to anyone else.

Donor Forum

Thank you for your donation of tissue and blood to onCore UK to help future cancer research.

- As a donor, your views are very important to us.
- We would like to keep you up to date with our news as well as news from researchers working with the donated samples.
- And we would like you to tell us what you think – because your feedback is essential for improving our work and guiding us in the future.
- The onCore UK Donor Forum helps us to communicate with each other.
