

Links to www.oncoreuk.org

onCore UK encourages linking to its public Web resources. If you wish to link to the onCore UK website, please direct your link to <http://www.oncoreuk.org>. If you intend to provide a description with your link, onCore UK would prefer the wording:

“Founded in partnership, charitable, not-for-profit and for the long-term benefit of cancer patients, onCore UK has one main aim: to create and run a national biosample resource, where tissue and blood samples from patients can be collected, stored and made available to cancer researchers on a scale unprecedented in the UK.”

You may also link to individual pages within this site, provided that attribution is made to onCore UK and any descriptive notes accurately reflect the content of the page being linked to.

Request a Link from www.oncoreuk.org or use of the onCore UK logo.

We will use the following criteria for evaluating whether a website should link to our website and use our logo:

- Relates to the mission of the onCore UK;
- Complements and enhances the information on the onCore UK website;
- Provides credible, accurate, current information which is pertinent to onCore UK's interests;
- Primarily focuses on information or educational content, and not the promotion of any products or services

When considering the use of our logo we will also consider steps, measures and controls which might be imposed to protect our corporate brand.

To nominate your Web site for a link from www.oncoreuk.org or to request permission to use our logo on your website, please email your request with the following information to info@oncoreuk.org:

Site Name:

URL:

Purpose of your website:

Nature/Purpose of your organisation:

Contact Name:

Contact Email:

All submissions will be reviewed by onCore UK staff or external reviewers with expertise in the topic. Currently linked sites undergo periodic re-review.